Official of Foshay Co. to Plead Guilty

VICE-PRESIDENT OF DEFUNCT COMPANY PLANS TO ENTER PLEA ON ONE COUNT

Minneapolis, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—C. W. Salisbury, former vice-president of the defunct W. B. Foshay company, indicated today that he will plead guilty to charges of using the mails to defraud with which he and six other members of the company are charged.

In a previous trial Salisbury with Foshay and five other defendants were charged with 17 counts of mail fraud. The jury disagreed. Salisbury will plead guilty to the first of the 17 counts.

The other defendants will face trial again beginning next Monday, the United States attorney's office said. Fred Horowitz, special prosecutor, is expected to arrive in Minneapolis this week to take charge of the prosecution.

Receive Nominations for Minnesota Postmasterships

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Two nominations for postmaster positions in Minnesota were sent to the senate for confirmation today by President Hoover. They were Axel M. Cronquist, Stillwater, and Samuel A. Nystrom, Watertown.

Mail Income Tax Blanks to 65,000

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—A. R. Knox, acting revenue collector for Minnesota, today mailed 100,000 income tax return blanks to 65,000 individuals and 35,000 corporations, partnerships and fiduciary groups in the state.

Students Return to Begin New Quarter

Minneapolis, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Thousands of students at the University of Minnesota returned to classes today after the Christmas holiday vacation. Students started a new quarter today, having completed their final examinations of the fall quarter before the vacation.

U. S. FILES PROTEST ATTACK ON CONSUL BY JAP ARMED GUARD

AMERICAN CONSUL CHAMBERLAIN BEATEN AND SLIGHTLY INJURED IN MUKDEN

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—The state department today protested to the Japanese government against an attack made on American Consul Chamberlain at Mukden by Japanese soldiers.

The protest was filed with Ambassador Katsuchi Debuchi of Japan for transmission to Tokyo. It followed a report from the American consulate at Mukden saying the attack was entirely unjustified.

The guard challenged Chamberlain as he was being driven to the railway station in a consular automobile bearing regular consular identification. The guard did not understand English. Chamberlain, who has been an interpreter in China for 10 years, spoke to him in Chinese after exhibiting his credentials. The guard then struck Chamberlain in the face. Chamberlain was not seriously injured, however, and proceeded to Harbin. Myers protested to the Japanese consulate.

Rockford, Ill., Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick declared President Hoover is not a popular leader and urged the republican party to select a presidential nominee with a fair chance of victory in a dictated editorial appearing today in the Rockford Register-Republic, of which she is publisher.

Mrs. McCormick, daughter of the late Mark Hanna, widow of Senator Medill McCormick and unsuccessful contestant against J. Hamilton Lewis for the senatorial toga at the last election, inquired why Hoover "should not be freely discussed and impartially weighed as a seeker for public office" and urged in her editorial that the party "kick precedent into a cocked hat" by picking another nominee.

PLAN PARTY CONFAB WEEK AFTER G. O. P. SELECTS CANDIDATE

LEADERS WILL APPEAR ON PROGRAM PARTY CAUCUSES IN WASHINGTON THIS WEEK

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Chicago probably will be selected as the location for the 1932 democratic national convention when the national committee makes its choice here next Saturday.

Republicans recently voted to hold their nominating convention at Chicago June 14. Not since 1884, the year of the Cleveland-Blaine campaign, have the two major parties selected the same point for their presidential kick-offs.

Others May Make Bids

San Francisco, Atlantic City, Kansas City and possibly one or two other cities may make bids for the convention. Some democrats would like to go to San Francisco, recalling the royal reception they received there in 1920. However, the expense of a transcontinental trip for eastern delegates, the central location of Chicago, its new air-cooled hall, large hotel facilities, and the strong financial backing have caused most party leaders to prefer the midwest site.

The tentative date suggested is Tuesday, June 21, one week after the republican convention. Leaders from all over the country will attend the Jackson day dinner Friday night when the three living ex-candidates, Alfred E. Smith, John W. Davis and James M. Cox will speak. Governor Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland is expected to be presented formally as a candidate at a dinner in Baltimore Thursday night. Two of the men most talked of in connection with the nomination, Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Newton D. Baker of Ohio, will not be present at any of the party gatherings.

To Reveal Poll

National Chairman John J. Raskob is arriving here in advance to prepare for the meeting. Authoritative word is that he has abandoned any intention of attempting to force the national committee to go on record against federal prohibition.

He is now expected to present replies to his recent questionnaire sent to 1928 campaign contributors, and ask that it be forwarded to the platform committee at the national convention. The poll is understood to show a large majority for a referendum and modification as was expected. However, Raskob has been strongly advised that to press the issue now would provoke an open controversy with the drys and that the fight would be without result, since the committee cannot bind the convention.

KIDNAP GANG TAKEN AFTER MEMBER IS DUPED BY VICTIM

MEMBER OF GANG BECOMES ENAMORED WITH WOMAN VICTIM; LEADS TO ARRESTS

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—How the wiles of a beautiful woman led handcuffed in a kidnapers' den to discovery of a $500,000 abduction ring and arrest of seven men was revealed today by Chief Investigator Pat Roche of the state's attorney's office.

The blonde and handsome woman is Mrs. Georgia Gecht who with her husband, Dr. Max Gecht, was kidnaped Dec. 10 and held captive more than 60 hours. The physician paid $2,000 for his wife's release.

Mrs. Gecht said she noticed one of her captors had become enamored of her and led him to believe she would meet him after her release. The man, said by Roche to be Gus Sanger, one of the prisoners, fell for the device and attempted to communicate with her. Officers trailed him and after several weeks investigation arrested the group.

Meanwhile at the Congress hotel in a suite that resembled an armed camp were held Ward C. Swallow, former assistant state's attorney, and six others. The state's attorney's office announced evidence would be presented to the grand jury today or tomorrow for indictment of the men. The death penalty will be asked, prosecutors said.

Olson's Tax Reforms Board Studies Income Tax Proposals

St. Paul, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—State income tax proposals will be studied by Governor Floyd B. Olson's newly appointed committee to 17 to draft a report on tax reforms, political observers said today.

Appointment of State Senator Robert C. Bell of Detroit Lakes as a member of the committee insures a hearing for the income tax, observers indicated, since Bell was the sponsor of the bill authorizing a vote on an amendment embodying the income tax at the next general election in November.

Four other legislators were named to the committee. They were Senators George H. Sullivan, Stillwater, chairman of the senate tax committee, and Neil A. Pederson, Milan, and Representatives W. E. Hastings, Two Harbors and Hjalmer Peterson, Askov.

Other persons appointed to the commission were Professor Henry Rottschaefer of the University of Minnesota, Roy Wier, organizer of the Central Labor Union, Minneapolis; J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation; Mrs. Thomas Mohn, Red Wing; Charles F. Keyes, former chairman of the Minneapolis board of estimate and taxation; Miss Violet Johnson, Minneapolis; J. M. Clancy, commissioner of public safety, St. Paul; J. C. Erp, Canby; Mrs. Philip De More, Duluth, and Walter Butler, St. Paul.

Meanwhile the final report of the Minnesota Taxpayers association for 1931 was made public. Included in the report were the following representative reductions:

Clay county, $82,305; Crow Wing, $18,657; Goodhue, $93,270; Morrison, $33,643; Rice, $51,970; Stearns, $216,969; St. Louis, $1,360,513; Washington, $71,500.

SCOUR OZARKS FOR OFFICERS' SLAYERS

BULLETIN

Houston, Tex., Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—First definite news of the whereabouts of Harry Young, killer of six officers in Springfield, Mo., was given officers here today when a relative of the man told them he had been at her house four minutes before the officers arrived.

She said she did not know anything about Harry's brother, Jennings.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Hundreds of armed citizens, aided by bloodhounds, deployed over the surrounding countryside today searching for three men who killed six Missouri peace officers from ambush at their farm fortress near here.

Two of the known men in the farmhouse at the time of the killing were Harry and Jennings Young, brothers and both ex-convicts. The third man has not been identified. It was believed the men had taken refuge in the Ozark foothills west of here.

Citizens "armed to the teeth," members of the American Legion and officers have searched unceasingly for the men since Saturday night when the trio killed Sheriff Marcel Hendrix of Greene county, his deputy and four policemen rather than submit to arrest.

Britain Jails Gandhi to Crush "Non-Violence" War

Cowboy Pastor

Rev. McNab Wilson, cowboy evangelist, has been adopted by the Blackfoot Indian tribe at Glacier Park, Mont. He is shown above in Indian costume. Reverend Wilson has given up his charge among the whites and spends all his time on the Blackfoot reservation.

BULLETIN

Bombay, India, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—First bloodshed in the latest phase of India's fight for independence occurred today when one person was killed and many injured during the dispersal by police of a procession at Allahabad. Thirty were arrested including the Pandit Nehru, brother-in-law of Jawaharlal Nehru.

Bombay, India, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Indian nationalists, with Mahatma Gandhi and other leaders in jail, renewed their active campaign against British rule tonight.

The government met their activities with arrests, suppression of demonstrations, and stern repressive measures.

A mass meeting in which 50,000 took part was permitted in Bombay, but meetings in Calcutta were broken up or prevented, the police dispersing one meeting with clubs.

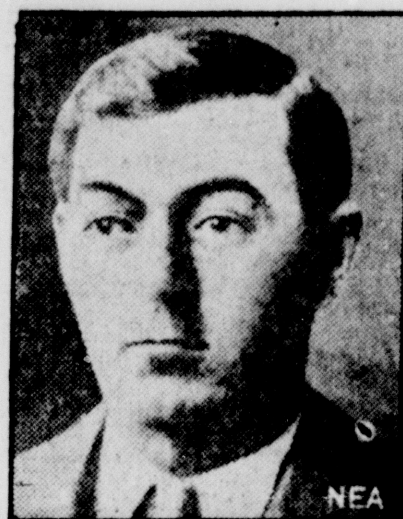

The all-India congress committee, governing body of Gandhi's organization, was declared illegal. Its members will be arrested if they attempt to meet.

At Patna, the Bihar government proclaimed the local congress committee illegal. Sixteen local congress members were arrested.

Renewal of civil disobedience and non-cooperation was expected to break out generally through the country, with accompanying disorders.

The boycott of British goods was actively renewed and it was feared the loss to British trade would be heavy.

Sheriff Held in Bank Robberies

Sheriff Ira Barton, above, of Portland, Ind., is held on charges that he served as "tip-off" man for a gang of bank robbers following confessions of two members of the gang who accused him. Barton denies the charge. He is a wealthy land owner and had only two more days to serve as sheriff at the time of his arrest. Four banks in Blackford county have been robbed recently. A woman is sought as leader of the gang.

HOOVER PLEADS FOR CONSIDERATION OF REHABILITATION UNIT

Demands Congress Take Immediate Steps on 8-Point Program in Special Message Delivered Today

POSITION ON 3-MAIN CATEGORIES ARMS GIVEN FOR CONFAB

DELEGATION WILL GO TO WORLD DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE WITH THIS PURPOSE

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—The United States will go to the world disarmament conference at Geneva next month prepared to match proportional armament cuts with any other nation.

The position of the United States on limiting the three main categories of arms was outlined today by a high official as follows:

1. Naval: The big sea powers—the United States, Great Britain, Japan, France and Italy—already have held informal conversations regarding a long-term naval armament holiday during which there would be no new construction save for light patrol vessels. The United States, although it has made no commitment, is represented as favoring the plan. Officials here have reason to believe it is winning favor with the Japanese and British.

2. Land armaments: America, having only a skeleton army, cannot expect to reduce its personnel. Some thought is being given, however, to limitation of heavy artillery and other war equipment, costly to build and short-lived in design.

3. Aircraft: Although experts differ, most American officials who have studied the disarmament problem hold that military air power cannot be effectively limited without also restricting commercial aviation. For this reason, the United States sees little hope of limiting sky armament effectively. It is ready, however, to give sympathetic consideration to any plan another nation may offer.

Although the United States hopes for real arms reduction at Geneva, officials feel the conference will be justified if it stabilizes armaments at their present level. This, they contend, would promote international confidence and result, perhaps in eventual reduction.

CRIES OF SKATERS OF THIN ICE FAIL WARN AUTOISTS; 3 DROWN

DRAW LAKE NEAR GREY EAGLE IN EFFORT TO RETRIEVE AUTO AND BODIES

Grey Eagle, Minn., Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—Despite the cries of skaters who sought to warn them of thin ice, two men and a boy were drowned yesterday afternoon in Big Birch lake as they took a shortcut across the ice to come here from St. Rose.

The three were identified as Ben Korde, deputy boiler inspector in Stearns county, his son, 10, and Henry Hoppe, all of St. Rose.

Efforts were made today to retrieve the automobile and bodies from the 40 feet of water into which they sank. According to witnesses the skaters attempted to warn the trio that the ice onto which they were driving had only recently frozen over but the automobile proceeded and then suddenly crashed through. Apparently the men were not able to free themselves from the car and were trapped.

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—President Hoover in a special message to Congress today urged immediate action on his financial rehabilitation proposal. He asserted that "the United States has the resources and resilience to make a large measure of recovery independent of the rest of the world."

The president outlined eight points in his program which he said demanded immediate action. These included the strengthening of the Federal Land Bank system and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation "to furnish during the period of the depression credits otherwise unobtainable."

"I should be derelict in my duty," the President in his special message said, "if I did not at this time emphasize the paramount importance to the nation of construction action upon these questions at the earliest possible moment."

The principal subjects requiring immediate action are listed by the president in part as:

"1. The strengthening of the Federal Land Bank system to aid the farmer and to maintain at the highest level the credit of these institutions which furnish agriculture with much needed capital. This measure has passed the House of Representatives and is now before the Senate.

"2. The creation of a reconstruction finance corporation to furnish during the period of the depression credits otherwise unobtainable under existing circumstances in order to give confidence to agriculture, industry and labor."

"3. The creation of a system of home loan discount banks in order to revive employment by new construction and to mitigate the difficulties of many of our citizens in securing renewals of mortgages on their homes and farms.

"4. The discount facilities of our Federal Reserve Banks are restricted by law more than that of the central banks in other countries. This restriction in times such as these limits the liquidity of the banks and tends to increase the forces of deflation, cripples the smaller businesses, stifles new enterprise and thus limits employment. I recommend an enlargement of these discount privileges to take care of emergencies.

"5. The development of a plan to assure early distribution to depositors in closed banks is necessary to relieve distress among millions of small depositors and small businesses, and to release vast sums of money now frozen.

"6. Revision of the laws relating to transportation in the direction recommended by the Interstate Commerce Commission would strengthen principal transportation systems and restore confidence in the bonds of our railways.

"7. The country must have confidence that the credit and stability of the federal government will be maintained by drastic economy in expenditure; by adequate increase of taxes; and by restriction of issues of federal securities.

Red Cross Lays Plans to Evacuate Flood Area

Washington, Jan. 4.—(U.P.)—The Red Cross announced today it was making plans to evacuate many of the residents from the danger zone should further breaks occur on the levees in Tallahatchie and Leflore counties, in Mississippi.

The Red Cross ordered Ernest P. Krick of the National Disaster Relief Staff into the stricken section with instructions to check the possibilities of moving 6,000 or 7,000 persons from the threatened area and to investigate preventable measures against disease.

Check, Dated June 6, 1891, Blown About for Years in City Found by Milkman and Revives Memories of its Principals

Blown about by the wind, weathering many four seasons of the year and picked up by a milkman in the back yard of a Codyville resident in Brainerd, a check written on the First National Bank of Brainerd and dated June 6, 1891, has claimed attention again.

If the check could talk, what a story it might tell of its travels in Brainerd through 40 years. It outlived the writer, S. F. Alderman, and the assignee, A. Z. Renslow.

The check, now on display in the First National Bank of Brainerd, reveals that it was written by Alderman, former attorney and judge of municipal court, to Renslow, Brainerd pioneer who operated the Renslow Laundry at 405 Front Street.

The check was found by Edward Brusseau as he delivered milk to the W. D. McKay home, 403 North 2nd Street. Brusseau is living on the McKay farm.

Bank officials were of the opinion that the check was cashed at one of the local banks although there is no stamp on the check with the exception of a star shaped perforation as though the check had been spindled.

Fined $75 Costs on Careless Driving Charge in Court Here

Harold T. Molstad paid a fine of $75 and costs levied against him today by Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court upon his plea of guilty to a charge of careless driving.

The charge was filed by Minnesota State Highway Patrol officers. Molstad was arrested January 3 while driving on Trunk Highway No. 2, officers said.

Council to Talk Milk Ordinance, Firemen's Wage Cut Plan Tonight

Consideration of a milk ordinance regulating the handling of milk will occupy the attention of city aldermen at a meeting of the council tonight, it was reported.

The proposal of the Brainerd Firemen's Relief Association to further reduce wages of firemen appointed by the council rather than reduce the force by one truck driver as originally planned by the council as an economy move will also be heard.

TAKING THE BLAME--

Anyone who has occasion to drop into criminal court very often must get the depressing thought, now and then, that one of the chief offenders against our laws never gets into the dock as a defendant.

All manner of people come before the judge for sentence in the course of a year. But Society itself—the framework that all of us have built up to work and live by—never comes to trial. And sometimes it is very culpable.

The other day a 17-year-old New York boy was arrested for taking $60,000 worth of jewels from the apartment of a Park avenue millionaire.

This youth worked for a firm of interior decorators as a sort of errand boy. In that capacity—he had held the job three years—he entered the homes of the wealthy nearly every week. His salary was $13 a week, and he gave $10 of it to his mother to help support the family. The remaining $3 were all his own.

His theft seems to have been impulsive and stupid. More out of curiosity than anything else, he opened a wall safe in this apartment, saw a glittering pile of jewels and pocketed them. Frightened and perplexed, he had made no attempt to turn them into cash when arrested.

A New York newspaper, describing the case, remarked: "He lives on a run-down street between warehouses, cheap shops, garages, tenements and old dwellings from which the paint is peeling. The street meets Park Avenue beside a railroad yard. . . In his squalid home a reporter found his mother weeping. She did not know what she was going to do now, she said, as he had been her chief support ever since he left school."

There is no use, of course, in getting sentimental and soft-hearted about youthful jewel thieves. But when you think of this youngster's life, and remember how, at 17, he was the chief support of a family, living in a miserable neighborhood and being obliged, almost daily, to look on the ostentatious wealth of Park avenue, it makes you wonder.

Ought not our society, which puts its Park avenues so mad-deningly close to its stifling tenements and turns boys of 17 into $13-a-week breadwinners, to admit at least a part of the responsibility in this case?

OLD SOLDIERS' FATE--

When Henry C. Boas reached his 90th birthday in New York the other day the newspapers sent reporters to talk to him; for he is one of the few men now living who served in the cavalry brigade of General George Custer during the Civil War, and it was supposed, quite naturally, that he might have some interesting tales to relate.

The reporters found that he spends much of his time in the rooms of a G. A. R. post, whose walls carry many pictures of army life and Civil War days; and Mr. Boas, pointing to the pictures, remarked that "they sort of symbolize all that's left to me now."

And that, very likely, is a thing that could be said by nearly all old soldiers, of every nation and every generation. It represents at once the sadness and the glory of the life of the old war veteran; the fact that he has soul-stirring memories, and little besides, to carry him through his last years.

Perhaps that is why there is always something faintly pathetic about the surviving graybeards who fought in the Civil War. The one great event of their lives took place right at the beginning. Nothing that ever happened to them afterward could compare with it. How could the triumphs and stratagems of business or professional life impress a man who rode down the Shenandoah with Sheridan, or struggled across the wilderness, with Lee, or sailed the far seas on the Alabama? Such a man, from the time he left the service, was doomed to live in the past to the end of his days.

So it has been, very likely, from the earliest days. One can imagine, in ancient Greece, the far-away look in the eyes of the old men who had gone to the sea with Xenophon; the elderly farmers in Italy, a little later, whose stubby swords had helped Caesar conquer Britain; the decrepit pensioners of the middle ages who had trooped to Asia Minor with Richard or St. Louis; the aging Frenchman of less than a century ago who remembered marching to Moscow with the Grand Army.

Every age has such men; out-moded warriors who see their battles slip into the background and who treasure keepsakes—old pictures, or rusty swords, or battered old helmets—as symbols of all that life has left them. For that is the fate of the old soldier.

LAWLESS LIQUOR TRADE--

It is announced in Chicago that the Congregational Education Society is going to conduct a campaign to make people more generally familiar with the fact that the liquor trade consistently and flagrantly violated the law before the passage of the prohibition amendment; and this, both for the dry and the wet, is a perfectly sound and sensible campaign.

There is no question at all that the liquor trade brought prohibition on itself. It made itself such an offense that it persuaded millions of citizens that it ought to be suppressed outright, and the fact should be remembered.

Right now there is certainly room for two schools of thought about the success or failure of prohibition. But nothing will be gained by ignoring the manifold problems which the old regime contained. If a new solution to the liquor question is to be found, the lawlessness of the old-time liquor trade must assuredly be taken into account.

SADDLING POSTERITY--

The exceptionally knotty nature of the whole war debts-reparations problem was never better illustrated than by Banker Charles F. Mitchell's testimony before the Senate committee the other day.

Mr. Mitchell, you remember, pointed out that no one can expect coming generations of Germans to pay a staggering war debt that they never contracted for. Instead, he said, they would probably indulge in a revolution.

Senator David A. Reed then pointed to an equally obvious truth—that no one can expect coming generations of Americans to pay those debts, either, which is about what they will have to do if the debts and reparations are canceled.

It would be hard to imagine a tougher problem. Neither side is apt to give in, because neither side can give in. The solution of the puzzle is going to take a lot of finding.

THREE KINDS of LOVE

BY KAY CLEAVER STRAHAN

© 1931, by Doubleday, Doran and Co.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

ANNE, CECILY and MARY-FRANCES FENWICK live with their grandparents, once wealthy, now so impoverished that they are struggling to keep the household. The sisters have been orphaned since childhood. The grandparents are known respectively as "ROSALIE" and "GRAND" and they insist on keeping up pretenses of their former wealth. Anne, 23, and Cecily, 22, do secretarial work and Mary-Frances, 15, is still in school. When the story opens Anne has been engaged to PHILIP ECHOYD, young lawyer, for eight years. They can not marry because Anne knows her sisters and grandparents depend on her to manage their home. Cecily brings BARRY McKEEL home to dinner with her. She is falling in love with him. Mary-Frances and her friend, EDITH TRIBE, are excited about the arrival of a stock company actor known as EARL DE ARMOUNT. They meet him on the street and he speaks to them. Mary-Frances is thrilled, agrees to meet him that night after the performance. She tells him she is 15, fails to note the cheapness of his love-making and after that first meeting promises to see him again. Next morning Phil telephones Anne he is coming to take her down town in his car.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XVII

ALMOST at once, before he had turned the car from the tree-lined driveway into the street, Phil said, "Ann, when are we going to be married?"

Ann, still too happy to be bothered, said, "Oh, Phil!" and patted his arm.

"I mean it," he insisted. "When?"

"Oh, Phil," Ann responded, but less happily.

"Ever?"

"Now, dear," she reproached, with no happiness at all.

"Seriously, Ann. I was thinking last night. What are we waiting for? For your grandparents to die?"

"How can you!" Ann protested. "That is a terrible thing to say."

"Not at all. We all die. Why evade the statement? But with the care Mr. and Mrs. Fenwick take of themselves they may live for 10-20 years yet. You and I are almost 30 years old. Twenty or 10 years from now would make a late beginning for us, wouldn't it?"

"I don't know why you want to act like this, this morning," Ann said, and added, "I was so happy."

"Yes, dear, but don't you see?"

"No. Not this morning. I was so happy."

"Why should facing a fact make you unhappy?"

"I don't know. But it does. Talking about people dying and so on. I'd felt that we were making sort of a fresh start this morning—maybe."

"We are, dear," he told her. "That is what we want to do. I want to make a fresh start toward some definite goal. I want to get out, and get you out of this atmosphere of steamy, vague, sentimental optimism. I'm sorry if I shocked you, or hurt you by talking about the death of your grandparents. It wasn't necessary for me to say that, because that isn't what we are waiting for—is it? At least, I hope it isn't. Still, there must be a point somewhere that we can place and say, 'When that happens we can marry.' I want to see if we can place that point."

Ann sighed and shook her head a little.

"Suppose," Phil went on, "that we say we are waiting until I can make enough money to contribute the same amount that you are now paying in to the household. That would mean an extra hundred a month, wouldn't it? And that isn't impossible, is it?"

"No," said Ann. "Yes," said Ann. "Meaning?" he questioned pardonably.

SHE evaded. "There's your mother, too."

"What I send to mother is considered as a part of my own present living expenses. I'll have to be sure of enough, over and above my living expenses, to take care of your part of the expenses in your household. When I reach that point, shall we say, we can be married and will be?"

"There'd be two of us then," she said. "Now you have only your own expenses. Besides, it isn't just the money, you know."

"I knew you'd say that. If I had an extra hundred a month right now, you wouldn't marry me, would you?"

"You aren't fair, Phil. You just aren't fair. How could I go off and leave Cecily with the entire responsibility of the house and Grand and Rosalie and Mary-Frances? You know as well as I do that the only way in the world Cissy and I manage to keep going at all—is by having good times, or leisure, or to keep our jobs, for that matter—is by taking turns with the work and sharing it and the responsibilities. Suppose Cissy had been alone last winter when Grand was ill? As it is, with the two of us working as hard as we can, things get away ahead of us."

"Just keeping that big house, and getting the meals, and doing the ironing from the wet wash, and everything, is a full-sized job for one person. Cissy couldn't take that all over and keep her office position. She isn't strong enough. No one woman would be. And she is so young. You used to say on reason you loved me was because I had a sense of honor and fairness—but you don't seem to feel that way any more."

"Yes, I do. That's that, then. A hundred isn't sufficient. How much shall we have to add to the hundred to get a competent woman to do the housework?"

"I don't know."

"Fifty dollars? Sixty? Another hundred?"

Ann looked out of the window. "I was so happy," she said.

"Why were you, Ann?"

"I don't know. I can't imagine."

"Because you were being fair to Cecily?"

"You have no right to blame Cissy for everything."

"I'm not blaming Cissy for anything. I'm not really blaming you, either, Ann, for thinking always about being fair to Cissy and never thinking about being fair to me."

"That isn't true."

PHIL shrugged. "Isn't it? Well, where were we? An extra hundred a month on top of the first hundred. Two hundred, then, more than I am making now—or the interest on $10,000—and we can be married?"

"I won't talk that way! You're loving me, not buying me. And my family isn't looking for some outsider to support them, and we don't want charity."

"Outsider is right," said Phil. "Calling me up and pretending you wanted to take me to the office, and wanted to see me, and so sweet, and—all you wanted was to quarrel and quarrel and worry me and make me unhappy."

"No, Ann. I am very tired of quarrelling."

"Well, you always start it, just the same."

"If that is true, I am sorry," he said with no trace of penitence.

"If you loved me, you'd wish to help me and make me happy and not worry me. If you loved me—"

"I shouldn't wish to marry you? I'd be content to wait and wait, as we have been waiting, year after year, until we're both old and worn out and have no hope of establishing a family of our own nor a life of your own? Cecily will marry a one of these fine days. I shan't blame her; but I tell you, she will. And then where shall we be? Sunk deeper than we are now, if that's possible. We aren't children, Ann, nor morons. We have to think of some way out of this. Soon. We'll work it out together, dear. Will you go with me in that? Will you find some way out for us? I've waited, you know; and I can wait. But I am through and fed up with this waiting pointlessly—endlessly."

Ann said, "What has happened to make you get this way—just this morning?"

"I have been 'this way,' he answered 'for eight years.'

"Oh, no, you haven't. You weren't even through school eight years ago. You speak as if you were the only one who had waited. I've been waiting, too. As long as it was I, waiting for you, everything was all right."

"Fair enough," he accepted. "But for the past three years, at least—and it is more like four—I've been making plenty of money for the two of us to live on—carefully, but not meanly. I am only 30 years old—"

"A minute ago 30 was old and worn out."

"—and not so many men of 30, who have had no outside help at all, could marry, support their mothers, and keep another large family besides."

ANN looked at him. They had stopped at a red signal light, so he could look at her.

"No, Ann," he said quickly. "It is only that you put me on the defensive. I didn't say I was supporting your family, nor that I'd be allowed to do so. I said that I couldn't, and that not many men of my age could—and that is all I did say."

"Not quite all. You said that I was old and worn out, and that you were tired of waiting for me and fed up with it and wouldn't wait any longer."

The green light glowed, and the bell rang. Phil shot the car ahead too fast. They whizzed by the next corner and the next. At the third corner Ann said, "Didn't you?"

"I didn't, and you know I didn't. If you loved me you'd be as eager as I am to find some way out of this for us."

"I don't love you—when you act this way," Ann said.

"Ann, do you care to marry me? Or don't you? Answer that—just, 'Yes' or 'No.'"

"Yes, but—"

"Here is another plan, then. Let's be married soon—some time this month. You keep your position. We'll find a pleasant apartment and take Mary-Frances to live with us. She'll be better off without all that diversified discipline. She'll be a lot better off in many ways alone with us. I'll bring you to the office every morning and call for you every evening. It will cut out the slaving drudgery of that house for you. No—please wait until I've finished. Cissy can find an apartment—get a place to board, something of the sort. She'll be marrying before long. We'll take the money that you earn, and add a little to it, if necessary, and pay for room and board for the old people in some comfortable place—with a family, you know. Fact, I've one place in mind: good, pleasant people and an attractive home. They are up against it right now and are talking about 'paying guests.' Just as soon as my practice increases you can quit work. Will you think about that, Ann?"

MOTHER IS KILLED, THREE OTHERS HURT IN HY. NO. 2 CRASH

MRS. OLA SKALRUDE, DEERWOOD
TOWNSHIP, VICTIM WHEN CAR HITS TREE

Funeral arrangements were to be made today for a mother of four children, killed instantly Sunday at 3:30 a. m. when the car she was riding in crashed into a tree after it had failed to hold to the road on a curve known at Keating's corner on State Trunk Highway No. 2 between Crosby and Deerwood.

Mrs. Ola Skalrude, 37, Deerwood township, was the person killed. She leaves her husband and four children, a daughter being injured in the same accident.

Three persons were injured and are receiving care at the Crosby hospital. Ted Winskowski, Holdingsford, driver of the car, received a back injury, cuts in the head and face, a fractured nose and fractured ribs.

Miss Viola Skalrude suffered a cut over the right eye, a fractured arm and complains of pains in the chest.

Ted Snyder, Ironton, received neck and other injuries. His father was killed in a cave-in at the Croft mine at Crosby about a year ago.

STUDENTS WILL FORM GOVERNMENT, MOVE TO DEVELOP LEADERS

LITERATURE TO KEEP YOUTH IN-FORMED OF CHANGING
CONDITIONS

Announcement of a nation-wide movement, with representatives in this and other cities throughout the country, for the purpose of increasing interest of students in high schools and colleges in the study of government, was received today from Washington.

The organization, which will be known as The United States Society, will be non-partisan and non-political and will confine its activities to the free distribution of current materials on governmental affairs. The national board of advisers of the Society consists of former President Calvin Coolidge, Elihu Root, Newton, D. Baker, John Grier Hibben and Owen D. Young. Local chairmen will be announced shortly.

David Lawrence, who has accepted the national chairmanship, announced its purpose in an address before the recent meeting of the Political Science Association of America.

"Our object," he explained, "is to develop from among the youth of America informed leaders for the nation. Conditions are changing so rapidly that text-books quickly grow out of date and must be supplemented by a constant flow of current information presented comprehensively and without political motive. The plan includes the free distribution of materials for debates as well as class room discussion and the organization of model Congresses in the high schools and round table conferences in the colleges. Prizes will be awarded to the schools and colleges making the best record in the use of the materials and in the development of parliamentary bodies.

"In every state of the union, delegates will be selected on the basis of school records in debate and a model every state capitol at least once a state legislature will be convened in year. From these 48 model legislatures, delegates in turn will be selected to come to Washington to participate in a model Congress. The expense of these activities as well as the furnishing of books, pamphlets and other documents dealing with governmental topics will be borne entirely by the membership of the Society. None of the officers of the Society will receive compensation for their services and none of the publications of the Society will be sold.

"This is one of the most important undertakings in the field of education which we have witnessed in America, and it is timely now because of the widespread interest in the functioning of representative government throughout the world."

The Society has been incorporated under the laws of the District of Columbia and its officers are David Lawrence, chairman; Mary Roberts Rinehart, vice-chairman, and Breckinridge Long, secretary-treasurer.

Platte Lake Church Plans Special Service

There will be a special service at the Platte Lake church Sylvester Eve, Dec. 31. As in former years, the main service will be at 8:30 p. m., a social hour after the service, and a short devotion at the hour of twelve, the bell tolling out the old year and ringing in the new. Sixty people were present a year ago.

No other service on New Year's day than the devotion after the hour of 12 at midnight mentioned above.

Divine services January 3 at 10:30 a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Bodin of Cloquet, relatives of the Louis Wohl family, who had come here to attend the funeral of Louis Magnuson, having visited with their friends and neighbors, returned to their home shortly before Christmas.

Lily and Lila Sherwood were home over Christmas, returning to the cities Sunday afternoon.

Clara Wohl, who came home from the cities shortly before Christmas, is enjoying her two weeks' vacation.

The pastor of the Platte Lake church thanks all for the token of appreciation, also the Ladies' Aid for the gift of a beautiful picture.

THREE GAMES INAUGURATE BIG TEN CAGE SCHEDULE TONIGHT

PURDUE SLATED TO NAB THE TITLE FROM NORTHWESTERN FIVE

FIVE OTHER GAMES CARDED FOR THIS WEEK'S ACTIVITIES IN LOOP

Chicago, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Lithe athletes in multi-colored jerseys and shorts will go streaking across gymnasiums at Evanston, Madison and Urbana tonight as the Big Ten basketball race opens with six teams in competition.

At the end of what promises to be one of the closest races in years the black and gold banner of Purdue should replace the purple and white pennant of Northwestern on the championship mast-head.

Eight conference games are scheduled this week, three tonight and five Saturday night, as follows:

Tonight

Wisconsin at Northwestern.
Indiana at Purdue.
Ohio State at Illinois.

Saturday Night

Purdue at Illinois.
Michigan at Wisconsin.
Minnesota at Chicago.
Indiana at Northwestern.
Iowa at Ohio State.

Thumb-nail sketches of the teams follow:

Purdue—Last year's squad intact, with Johnny Wooden, all-America guard, and Harry Keller, all-conference forward, stars of a great team. Undeclared in practice games, piling up 228 points in five games or an average of 45.5 points per game.

Northwestern—Seven letter men back, but injury to Capt. McCarnes and inability of Bob Lockhart to regain last year's form may retard Wildcats at start. Won three and lost two practice games, both to Notre Dame.

Minnesota—Tied for second place last year. Three members of last year's team gone, but five letter men back. Won all five practice games. Team looks like strong contender.

Michigan—New coach in Franklin Cappon and every member of team which tied Purdue and Minnesota for second place last year back. Won three practice games and lost one to Syracuse.

Illinois—Tallest squad in conference with 12 players over 6 feet. Six letter men back from team which lost first five games and then won seven in a row last year. Won three and lost one to Butler in practice games. Dark horse of race.

Wisconsin—Five letter men back from team that finished seventh last year. Material considered best Dr. Meanwell has had in several years. Won three and lost one to Marquette in practice games.

Indiana—Entire 1931 team back but Hoosiers have failed to live up to promise in practice games. Won two practice games and lost two, to Pittsburgh and De Pauw. Hoosiers may be hard to stop if they start clicking in their first three games against Purdue, Northwestern and Illinois.

Ohio State—Squad of big players, with excellent sophomore material. Won three practice games and lost one to Vanderbilt. May bid for first division berth.

Chicago—Maroons lack height and class. Five letter men back. Doomed to second division. Won one and lost three practice games.

Iowa—Landed in cellar last year and will depend largely on sophomores this year. Won one and lost two practice games.

Fear Split in Boxing Regime as Tournament Craze Opens

The Green Wave Breaks on Southern California

Southern California captured the National Football Championship by beating the hitherto undefeated Tulane eleven, 21 to 12, in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Calif., played for charity. This NEA Service, Inc.-Bainbridge Dispatch telephoto shows Shaver, Trojan quarterback, making one of his sensational runs in the first half.

IOWA DEPENDING ON SOPHOMORES FOR BIG TEN CAMPAIGN

Chicago, Jan. 2.—(UP)—The University of Iowa, whose basketball team landed in the Big Ten cellar last year, depends upon an unseasoned squad of sophomores in a faster race this year.

The prospect for Coach Rollie Williams' untied team was not brightened by results of pre-conference games. The Hawkeyes lost to Bradley Polytech of Peoria 19 to 24, and Carleton 26 to 35, before defeating Nebraska, another sophomore team, 34 to 29.

Williams, Wisconsin graduate and pupil of Dr. Walter E. Meanwell, has been experimenting with new combinations in an effort to build up a strong team defensively as well as offensively. Intensive practice, with drills twice daily, was resumed last Monday after a week's vacation. The first team then included Rogers, center, Moffitt and Eshelman, forwards, and Swaney and Filkins, guards.

Moffitt, a sophomore, leads his teammates in scoring thus far with 22 points. Kotlow is another forward prospect but only five feet seven in height. Eshelman, who has assumed his place, is over six feet.

Barger, a reserve center who has seen some service in games this year, may give Rogers a battle for the post. The latter won his major numerical last season.

Addition of two sophomore stars is expected to strengthen the squad Feb. 1 when they become eligible. Krumbholz, forward, is a likely first string player and Bennett, who stands six feet four, may take the center position.

Dempsey Hurls Challenge to Anyone Except Sharkey

Los Angeles, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, is willing to meet any heavyweight boxer except Jack Sharkey in Los Angeles next summer, according to his manager, Leonard Sachs.

"Jack knocked out Sharkey," Sachs explained, "and that settles it. I'll never let Sharkey make any money by fighting Dempsey."

Jack Doyle, promoter, declared he believed Dempsey would draw a crowd of 100,000 in a fight with any good heavyweight, and offered Dempsey 50 per cent of the gate receipts to fight Sharkey, Primo Carnera, Young Stribling, Ernie Schaaf or Charley Retzlaff.

SIGN CONTRACTS SCHMELING-WALKER FIGHT WEDNESDAY

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Contracts for a 15-round bout between Max Schmeling of Germany, world's heavyweight champion, and Mickey Walker, will be signed Wednesday, it was reported today.

The fight, if staged, will take place at Miami, Fla., Feb. 25, under the sponsorship of the Madison Square Garden corporation of Illinois.

According to well informed sources, Schmeling will receive 40 per cent of the gate receipts. Walker's purse will be 17 1/2 per cent.

It is said that contracts for a bout between the winner of the Miami affair and Jack Sharkey, to be held sometime in June, probably in New York, also will be signed Wednesday.

LATE SCORE BRINGS ST. MARY'S TRIUMPH OVER N. Y. SEXTET

GOAL BY BIEJOUDE MARGIN OF VICTORY FOR ST. MARY'S OF WINONA

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—A third period goal by Biejoude gave the St. Mary's hockey team of Winona, Minn., a 1 to 0 victory over the St. Nicholas Hockey Club of New York in a pre-Olympic playoff at Madison Square Garden yesterday.

In the other contest, the Montreal A. A. defeated the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn, 7 to 1.

The St. Mary's-St. Nicholas game was bitterly contested with the winner in doubt until the final gun.

Score by periods:

ALREADY BOXING HAS TWO WORLD FLYWEIGHT CHAMPS

SPORT MAY SOON RIVAL WRESTLING WITH CHAMPIONS IN EVERY SECTION

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—The championship tournament craze has hit boxing and unless ruling bodies of the sport reach an agreement, soon will rival wrestling with a different "world champion" in every section of the country.

Already boxing has two world flyweight champions. Tournaments in progress or under consideration promise to prove extra title claimants in the middleweight, light heavyweight and heavyweight divisions, and as in wrestling where Jim Londos, Henri Defgiane and Strangler Lewis are recognized as "world champions" in their own particular strongholds, each of the boxing champions will be king in his own domain.

Midget Wolgast of Philadelphia is recognized as the world flyweight boxing champion in New York and Pennsylvania by the right of victory in a championship tournament sponsored by Madison Square Garden two years ago. Young Perez of France is champion of the division in Europe and states controlled by the National Boxing association by virtue of a knockout victory over Frankie Genaro of New York. Wolgast and Genaro attempted to settle the title dispute a year ago but fought to a 10-round draw.

In the light heavyweight division, Moxie Rosenbloom is recognized as champion in New York, having won a tourney sponsored by Madison Square Garden after the retirement of Tommy Loughran. The N. B. A. now is conducting a title tournament in Chicago and soon will name a new champion of the division. Rosenbloom formerly was recognized by the N. B. A. But his title has been vacated "for failure to defend the championship during the six months period provided by N. B. A. rules."

The middleweight throne has been vacant since the retirement of Mickey Walker. The N. B. A. now is conducting a championship tournament in Milwaukee and soon will name a "world champion." Madison Square Garden also has announced plans for a title tourney.

There is little question of Max Schmeling's right to the heavyweight throne but he is not recognized in New York and the N. B. A. is threatening to vacate his title and select a new champion.

Schmeling lost favor with Gen. John C. Clegg, president of the N. B. A., because his manager, Joe Jacobs, turned down Chicago stadium's bid for a Schmeling-Mickey Walker title bout in favor of an offer by Madison Square Garden to stage the same fight in Florida.

Stengel Named Coach of Brooklyn Robins

Brooklyn, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Charles D. (Casey) Stengel has been signed as coach of the Brooklyn Dodgers, it was announced today. Stengel is a former star outfielder. His most recent assignment was that of manager of the Toledo club of the American Association.

He has had a long baseball career. He played as a boy in Kansas City. The Brooklyn club bought him from the Aurora club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league for $300 in 1911. He was farmed to Montgomery in 1912, recalled to Brooklyn that autumn and remained with Brooklyn until the close of the 1918 season. He subsequently played with Pittsburgh Pirates, Philadelphia Phillies and New York Giants, was owned by the Boston Braves in 1924 and 1925, and went to Toledo in 1926.

Expect Ruth, Yankees to Fix Salary This Week

New York, Jan. 4.—(UP)—Babe Ruth and the New York Yankees are expected to reach an agreement this week on the home run king's 1932 salary, $80,000 last year.

Babe will receive a new contract either today or tomorrow. He is expected to sign without seeking a larger sum than called for in the new document. Baseball followers believe Ruth will be forced to accept a cut of at least $10,000.

Three Months' Traffic Deaths Show Decrease; Year's Total Larger

Deaths due to automobile accidents in Minnesota in August, September and October, 1931, were fewer than in the corresponding months in 1930, according to statistics gathered by an eastern insurance company. The decrease, however, was not sufficient to offset the increase in the first seven months of the year, each one of which recorded more fatalities than the same month in 1930.

The total number of deaths due to automobile accidents in the January to July period was 326 in 1931 and 258 in 1930. From August 1 to Oct. 31 there were 165 deaths this year and 188 in 1930. The total for the ten months is 491 in 1931 and 346 in 1930.

Increased traffic, especially during the open winter months, may account for part of the increase, but most of it is due to carelessness, says a highway bulletin. Just a reasonable amount of caution, on the part of motorists and pedestrians alike, would cut down the accident rate to a fraction of the present figure.

Two men's and one women's bowling teams from Brainerd won easily from Little Falls teams in a tournament at the Falls alleys Sunday.

In a match played later to settle the winner in the two men's teams from Brainerd, the E. M. B. A. won by the score of 2687 to 2634. Four of the E. M. B. A. men came through with strikes in the last frame.

The Brainerd ladies won by over 300 pins.
The Little Falls teams plan to play return matches here January 17.

Armour Annexes Miami Meet, $825 Prize Money

Miami, Fla., Jan. 4.—(UP)—Tommy Armour, Detroit, today was $825 to the good as a result of his winning the Miami open golf tournament.

Armour Sunday continued his brilliant play and turned in a morning round of 75 and an afternoon score of 71 for a 72 hole total of 285—the lowest score in the tournament's history. He received the winner's share of $800 and an extra $25 for low score on the first 18 holes.

John Kinder, Caldwell, N. J., in second place, was nine strokes back of Armour, with a 294, while Mike Turnesa, of Elmsford, N. Y., was third with 295. Willie MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., and Eddie Williams, Cleveland, tied for the next three places with 297's.

Citation for Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will
No. 3627.

State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss. Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Mary Olson, Decedent.
The State of Minnesota to All Whom It May Concern:
Whereas, Andrew Olson, of the Township of Long Lake, in said County and State, has deposited in this Court an instrument in writing purporting to be the Last Will and Testament of Mary Olson, late of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, together with his petition praying that said instrument be allowed and admitted to probate, and that letters testamentary be granted thereon to said Andrew Olson, which instrument and petition are on file in this Court and open to inspection;

It is Ordered, That said petition be heard on the 1st day of February, 1932, at ten o'clock A. M., at the Probate Court Room, in the Court House at Brainerd, in said County and State; that you be and appear before this Court at said time and place and show cause, if any there be, why said petition should not be granted; that you file your objections, if any there be, in writing, in this Court to the allowance of said will, before said hearing; and that this citation be served by the publication thereof according to law, and by mailed notice as required by the rules of this Court.

Witness, The Judge of this Court and the Seal thereof this 2nd day of January, 1932.

PENCE WASN'T GOING TO BE FOOLED AGAIN — NO SIREE!!! HE TOOK THE DIAMOND IN TO A JEWELER, TO DETERMINE ITS REAL VALUE

BY ALL MY EXPERIENCE WITH PRECIOUS STONES, I HAVE NEVER SEEN ONE OF THIS CUT, EXCEPT IN PRIVATE COLLECTIONS AND IN THE POSSESSION OF ROYAL

THE BLOND CLAIMS:

1. THAT SHE RECEIVED DAGGER FROM GRAND-FATHER.
2. THAT HE DIED, LEAVING HER HIS ESTATE.
3. THAT DAGGER IS KEY TO HIDDEN WEALTH.
4. THAT WOLFGANG IS FORMER SERVANT OF GRANDFATHER AND KNOWS IMPORTANCE OF DAGGER.

WELL, THAT'S MY STORY, BUT I'M AFRAID ALL I CAN REALLY PROVE IS THAT THE ESTATE IS MINE.

PICKLE MY BONES! I BELIEVE YA, MA'AM. THAT'S ALL THE PROOF I WANT.

ME, TOO. I NEVER DID BELIEVE WOLFGANG'S YARN, ANYWAY! TH' DAGGER'S YOURS.

REALLY? OH, HOW KIND!

AN' NOT ONLY THAT, MA'AM, BUT IF YA NEEDS US TO LAY OUT THIS MUG, WOLFGANG, JES SAY THE WORD.

OH, YOU DARLINGS! HOW CAN I EVER, EVER THANK YOU?

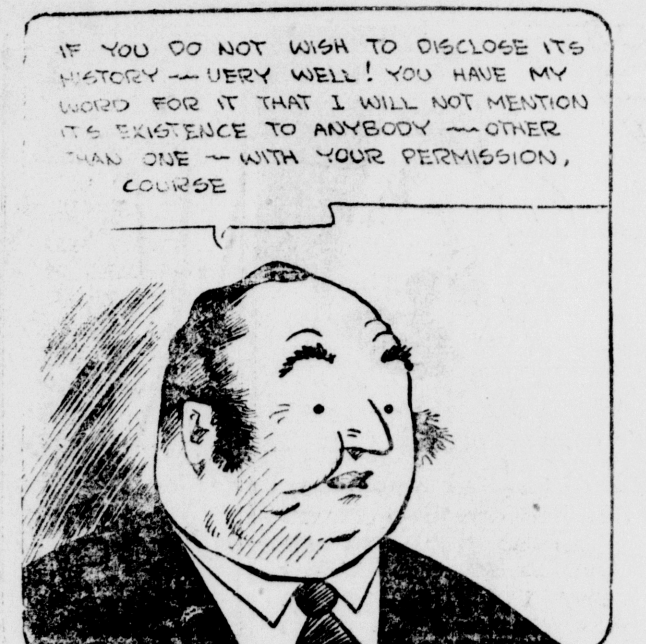

AW, THAT'S AWRIGHT. SQUARE SHOOTERS, THAT'S US, MA'AM, 'N' WE LOVES TO FIGHT.

YEH, AN' BESIDES, WE GOT SCORES TO SETTLE WITH 'AT BIG BUM.
